

Recycling starts with your cart. Place only clean, dry items in your container. #Recycling101 www.RORR.com

Tweet This

Make sure plastic bottles are dry before putting in your recycling bin. #Recycling101 at www.rorr.com

Tweet This

Upon entering a recycling facility, plastics are sorted from other materials. www.rorr.com #Recycling101

Tweet This

#Recycling101: 55% of aluminum beer & soft drink containers generated in 2012 were recycled. http://www.rorr.com

Tweet This

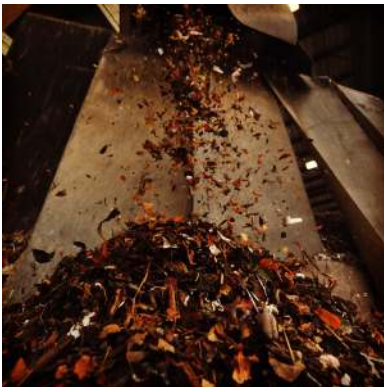

That's a lot of recycled paper. Keep it going. #Recycling101 http://rorr.com pic.twitter.com/7xWmKooN1m

Tweet This

#Recycling101: Many products. One bale. Check out what can go together via @WasteManagement: http://www.rorr.com

Tweet This

The wood you send for composting passes through a chipper. #Recycling101

Tweet This

Beautiful when baled. Pledge to make aluminum always look good. #Recycling101 via @WasteManagement www.RORR.com

Tweet This

Last year, @WasteManagement recycled 400M tons of plastic. Help do more. #Recycling101 www.rorr.com

Tweet This

We're excited to help give this bale of aluminum a second life. #Recycling101 via @WasteManagement www.rorr.com

Tweet This

Take a trip down the stream www.rorr.com! #Recycling101 via @WasteManagement

Tweet This

Nearly 75% of all aluminum ever produced is still used today. #Recycling101 at www.rorr.com

Tweet This

One bale of paper can weigh 1,000 pounds. #Recycling101 rorr.com pic.twitter.com/UD-D45xTTmn

Tweet This

#Recycling101. Paper is screened by machines & workers to take out contaminants. http://www.rorr.com

Tweet This

What kinds of paper do you recycle? #Recycling101 via @WasteManagement www.rorr.com

Tweet This

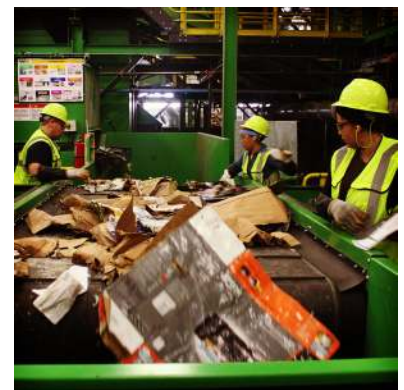

Paper is collected and brought to the tipping floor of a recycling facility. #Recycling101. www.rorr.com

Tweet This

Each pound of recycled aluminum saves 7.5 KWs of electricity. #Recycling101 http://www.rorr.com

Tweet This

#Recycling101: Nonrecyclables are sorted out from good materials. Pic via @WasteManagement http://www.rorr.com

Tweet This

#Recycling101: Sorters work hard to keep nonrecyclables out. Picture via @WasteManagement <http://www.rorr.com>

Tweet This

Let's sort this out. #Recycling101 <http://rorr.com> pic.twitter.com/qUbV1mQEDG

Tweet This

#Recycling101: Leave plastic tops on those bottles and jugs. Info via @WasteManagement <http://www.rorr.com>

Tweet This

When it goes in your #recycling bin, a can may become a new can in 60 days. #Green #Fact www.RORR.com

Tweet This

#Recycling101. There's no end to how many times aluminum can be recycled. Via @WasteManagement www.rorr.com

Tweet This

#Recycling101: Many boxes going to reuse. Hope no one needed to move over the weekend. <http://www.rorr.com>

Tweet This

#Recycling101: Paper is baled and then taken to a dry area for storage. Via @WasteManagement <http://rorr.com>

Tweet This

Paper bales can be stacked high. Keep it growing. Pic via @WasteManagement #Recycling101 <http://rorr.com>

Tweet This

#Green #Fact: Recycled paper looks pretty cool when baled. #Recycling101 www.rorr.com

Tweet This

Do it right. Before leaving boxes at the curb, make sure to flatten them - don't bundle or tie up. #Recycling101

Tweet This

69% of plastic bottles don't get recycled. #Recycling101 via @WasteManagement www.rrr.com

Tweet This

#Recycling101: Last year, we helped recycle tons and tons of cardboard. Info via @WasteManagement www.rrr.com

Tweet This

#Recycling101: Much of what's disposed can have a second act. www.rrr.com

Tweet This